Bionote: Daniel Perrin

Medialingvistiikan professori Daniel Perrin (Zurich University of Applied Sciences)

Professor of Media Linguistics Daniel Perrin (Zurich University of Applied Sciences)

Perrinin päätyönä voi pitää The Linguistics of Newswriting (2013) -teosta, joka on uraauurtava sekä journalististen työprosessien kuvauksessa että (kirjoitetun ja puhutun) tekstintuottamisen tutkimuksen metodologian näkökulmasta.

"Perrin's work is ground-breaking, addressing attested gaps in the field of language and news media, notably in terms of production and process, which are difficult to investigate with existing linguistic tools. Perrin leads with a fresh perspective, well-conceived and tested methods, and thoughtful case studies -- opening up the field again. The Linguistics of Newswriting has a broad reach and at the same time nails down the details. A virtuoso accomplishment." - Colleen Cotter, Queen Mary, University of London

"The depth and breadth of the research seems unprecedented in my reading of the literature on literate activity in any domain." - Paul Prior, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Lisäksi Perrin on ollut viime vuosina toimittamassa useampaa laajaa käsikirjaa, joista mainittakoon Handbook of Writing and Text Production (2014, Eva-Maria Jacobsin kanssa) ja kesällä ilmestyvä The Routledge Handbook of Language and Media (2017, Colleen Cotterin kanssa).

Lisätietoja / Further information about Daniel Perrin:

http://www.danielperrin.net/portrait/Hi.html